DETAILED ACTION

Examiner is asking applicant to species elect for claims 1, 3- 5.

The applicant is required to select a single species of formula I for X and Y. Applicant is to specifically a single chemical species for formula I. Choose a specific C1-C4 alkylthio for X and C1-C2 alkyl for Y.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, a specific disease, for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

a) In claims 1 the fact that each chemical species contains a distinct chemical moiety such that each chemical species is of a dissimilar nature.

b) Additionally in claims 1, 3 – 5
for claim 1 select a single method of treating {claim 1 learning disability or motor skills disorder};

for claim 3 select a single learning disability from developmental speech, language disorder or learning disorder {claim 3};

for claim 4 select a single developmental speech or language disorder {selected from claim 3} as well as single consisting of either development articulation disorder, developmental expressive language disorder or developmental receptive language disorder;

for claim 5 select a single learning disorder selected from reading disorder, mathematics disorder, disorder of written expression or learning disorder;

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.
